Dear Valued Customer,

The U.S. government has introduced multiple rounds of tariff changes beginning in February 2025, affecting certain countries. The list of impacted countries and the corresponding implementation timelines have continued to shift, and further adjustments remain possible. Countermeasures taken by affected countries have also prompted additional revisions to these tariffs.

This environment remains highly dynamic. MKS is actively evaluating and implementing strategies to reduce the impact of these tariffs on both our operations and your business. While we have taken significant steps to mitigate cost increases and optimize our supply chain, many of the materials and subcomponents essential to our products are sourced globally and remain subject to international tariffs. As a result, we have implemented a line-item surcharge to help offset these increased costs and ensure the continued delivery of the performance, quality, and reliability you expect from MKS. This surcharge appears on quotations, order confirmations, and invoices.

Our team is committed to supporting you through these changes, addressing any questions you may have, and minimizing disruption wherever possible. We appreciate your ongoing partnership as we navigate this evolving trade landscape together. Please contact your MKS sales representative for additional information or assistance.

Sincerely,

John Williams
